SCHOOL LIFE . . . . ON THE UPBEAT

Take one student body composed of a number of different personalities. Add an efficient administration and faculty, mix thoroughly with curriculum. Pour into classrooms and allow to mingle in halls. Sprinkle generously with organizations and activities. Let mature for twelve years in proper environment. When education is completed, establish in society to simmer a lifetime in wisdom, experience, and social harmony.

Jim,
You are a really sweet and cool guy. I hope you have the best of life.
(Miller High Life?) Anyway take care of yourself in the Marines and I'm going to miss you. When you come home - please come to see me. Luck always,
Love

Our Daily Routine Is "On the Upbeat"

Books and papers decked the shelves in the Gridroom during lunch.

"Don't point your finger at me Jeff! LBJ WENT all the way!" gloated M. McNeff.

Speech was enlivened at Halloween when "coach" J. Clark gave her monologue.

Decorating for the Freshman Reception, Donita Honey thought, "I hope the freshmen appreciate this."

"It's the 'principal' of the thing."

Brightened by Pep Sessions, Social Life;

Between-class social hour for the students was at the water fountain.

Senior girls were always ready to eat!

Faculty members enjoyed the Tea given by the eighth grade and freshman homemakers.

Fun, food, and friends were combined during the preparation of the Senior float.

Go!

Inspired by Classes, Studies, and Work .

Just one last glance before Patty Price and Julie Kreighbaum took their "big test."

A rainy day brought a somber atmosphere to DHS.

"Don't just stand there Gopher," D. Cope pleaded, "I know my assignment is in here somewhere!"

"Flying John Higgins" was a familiar sight on warm spring afternoons.

"What goes up BETTER come down!" S. Ferguson waited desperately during her baton twirling routine.

Our Exchange Student

The Falkenhagens were surprised to get a person to person Christmas greeting from Monika, compliments of the Student Council.

As the first Exchange Student to sport the traditional senior cords, Monika proudly points out her German home town of Bielefeld, Germany to Pat Dellinger and Janet Clark.

Monika Falkenhagen familiarized DHS students with the German way of living at several convocations.

"The 1965 Tom Tom" was a gift presented to Monika by Karen Mook and Susie Perkins on behalf of the Yearbook Staff.

ACADEMIC

With optimistic attitudes and eager minds, the students of DHS began another year of study which offered opportunities to further their education and advance their skills. New courses in French updated the language department while crafts and economics were added to the curriculum to meet the needs of an ever-changing, challenging society. By offering students a variety of courses, the accent at DHS is . . .

The achievement of the launching of the moon satellites has brought the importance of mathematics and science into sharp focus. This spectacular feat has become a symbol of competition which has compelled future scientists to be more prepared in this scientific world. The math department has accepted this challenge of leadership by stressing high academic standards and procedures that are needed to train young mathematicians.

- - Partners in Progress

Bonnie Herron is discussing with Mr. Kirts the final product of an experiment in chemistry. Mary Furry and Lorinda Vernon are set up for their project.

The fantastic progress made in the world in recent years, in all aspects of human endeavor, is known and the vital role played by science and mathematics as a team is always acknowledged. The practitioners, the scientists, the users, and the teachers, work around the clock daily: some groups making new discoveries and others transmitting this information to the young scientists of tomorrow who will take their place in the space age utilizing the tens of thousands of new things to come.

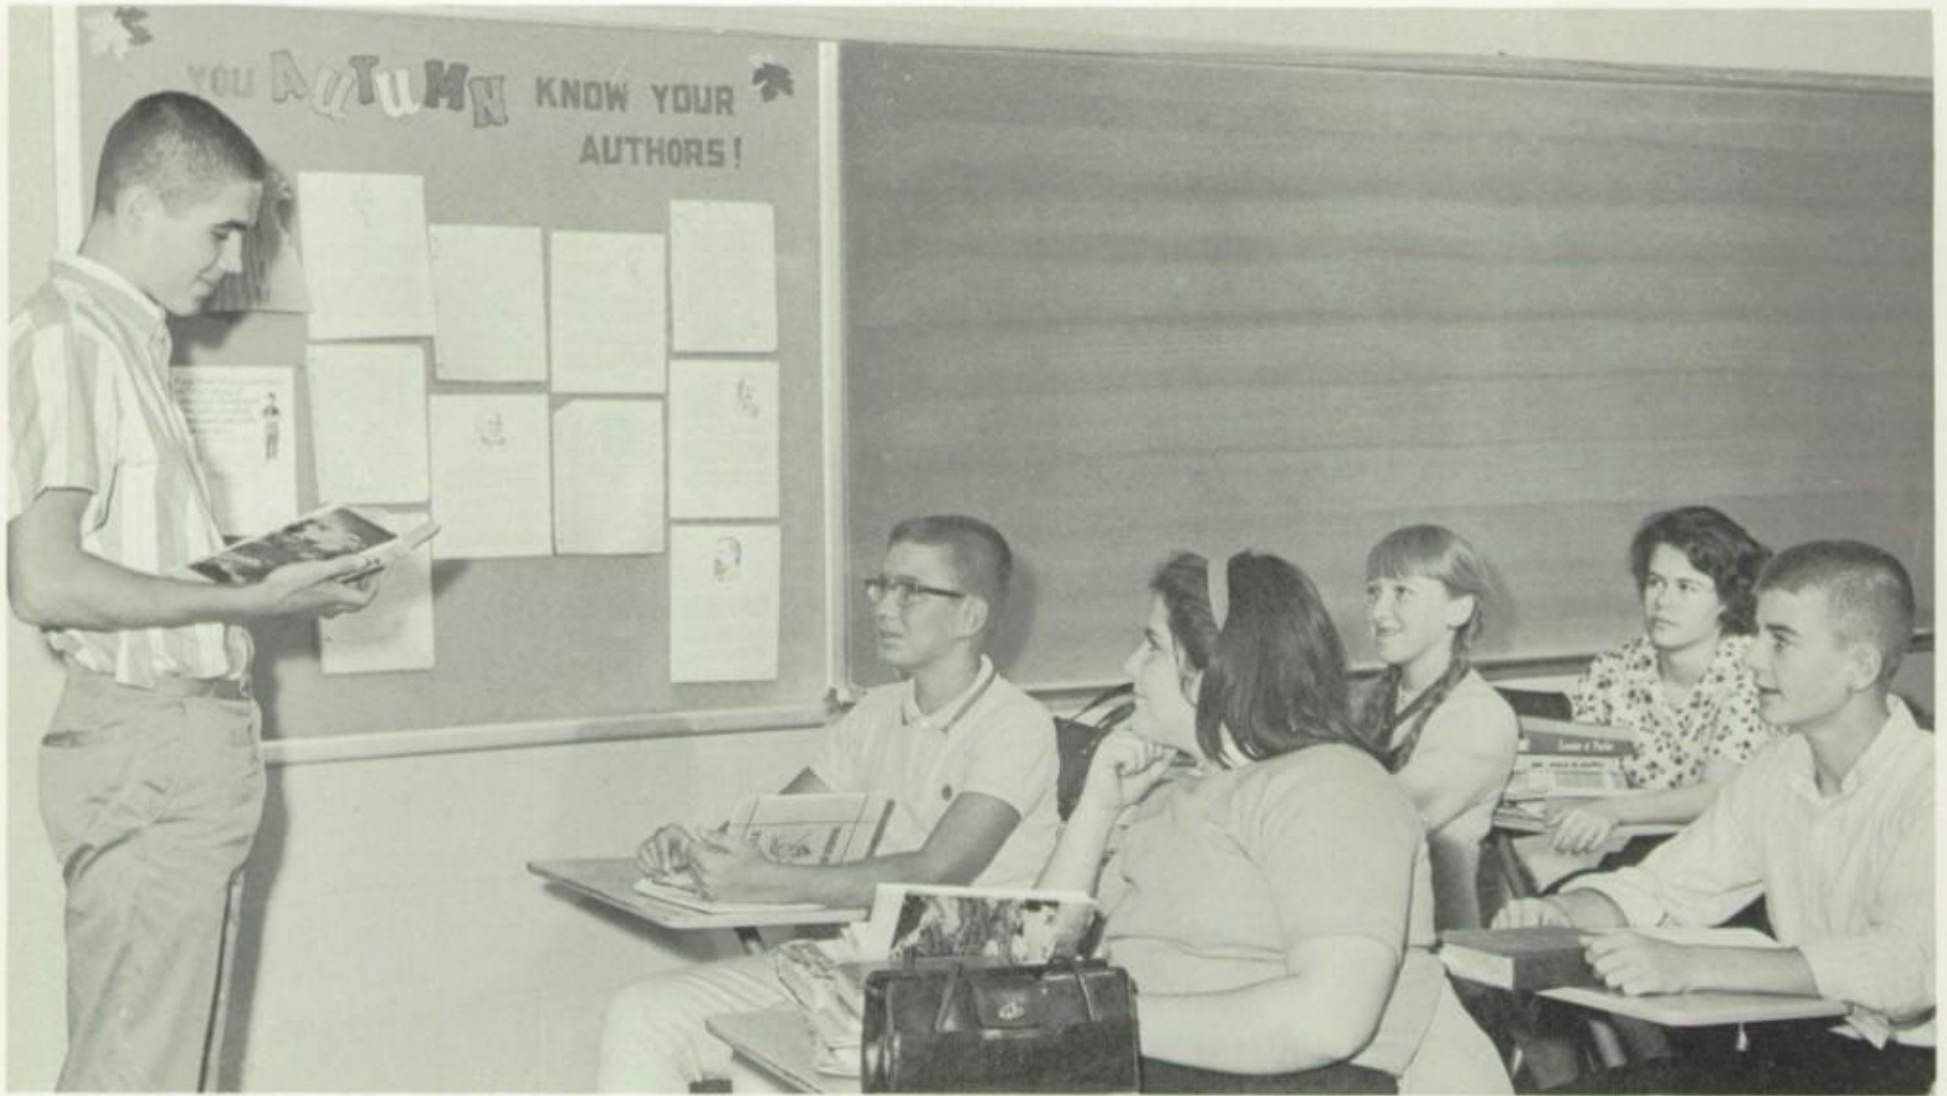

Linda Edwards gathers courage as she shows Mr. Pedigo and Tom Marshall the parts of a crayfish.

Eric Smith demonstrates to Mr. Kirts his plasma generator which took first place in the physical division at the Science Fair.

Languages Are Blueprints

Languages are meant to be spoken; inflection, emphasis, and expression are points of discussion as Richard Pruitt reads to the class.

The art of speaking in front of a group has to be perfected through practice. Beverly Jordan speaks on the new trends of hairstyles.

for Better Communications

Students discovered the excitement and enchantment of "gay Paree." Projects included reports about French authors and holidays. Through the magazines of "Bonjour" and "Chez Nous," students were fascinated by the elegance of this language. It proved to be a very enjoyable course.

In this modern upbeat world a vital necessity to the peace and security of all peoples is the knowledge of the language, culture, and history of other nations. The traditions and culture of the Spanish peoples are intertwined in the study of the Spanish language. An understanding of our neighbors to the South will bring a closer relationship with them.

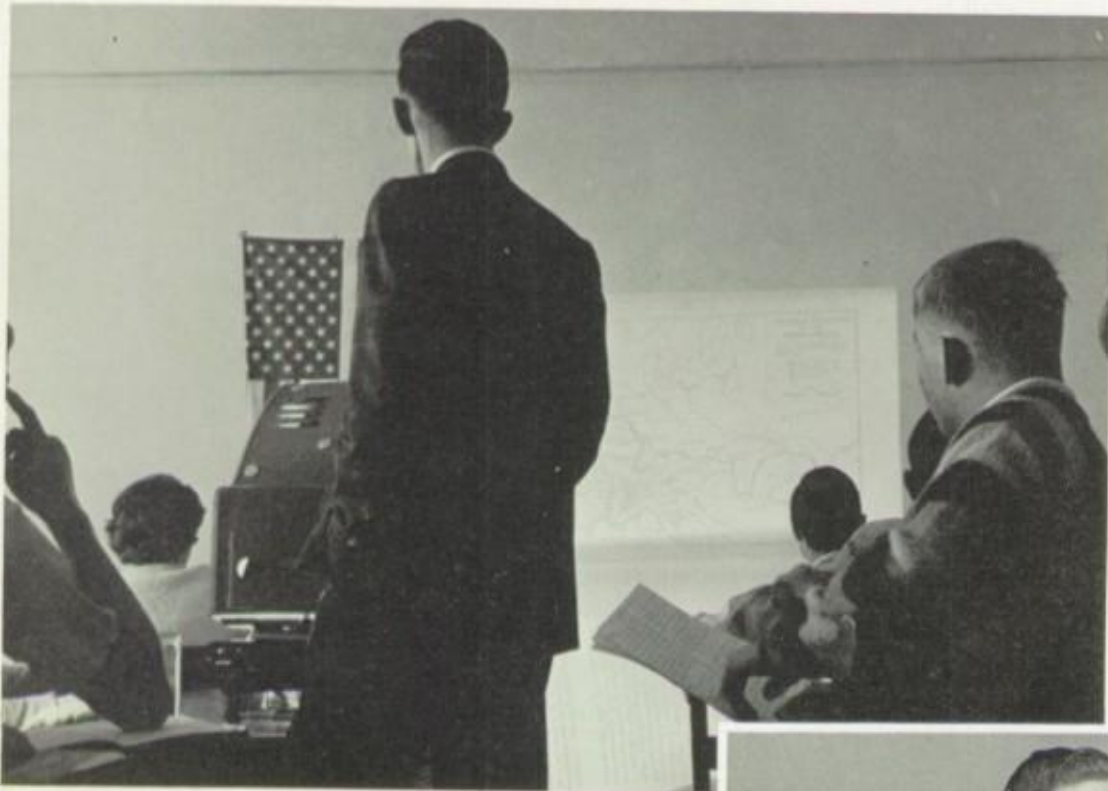

Latin is the basis for all other modern languages and cultures. The Latin classes not only study vocabulary and translations to understand the language, but by constructing models and doing research on the ways of Roman life, they can understand their own culture better.

Yesterday and Today Determine Tomorrow

Citizens of Tomorrow are trained by government, economics, and sociology classes to avoid the mistakes of yesterday.

To make history alive, not just printed words, the World History classes are shown slides of the Roman Empire.

New Business Machines Add Experience

Beginning typists strived for speed and accuracy.

Speed, accuracy, and exactness of form are familiar words to the business students. In shorthand, pens fly; in typing, rapid fingers force keys; and in bookkeeping, machines total, total, total. . .

To learn new techniques and add to their experience, the Advanced Bookkeeping class used business machines with their forms.

Foods and Fashions

Cheryl Tague, Joan Wiggam and Carolyn Brown are working on dresses that they modeled in the style show. Mrs. Helbig adjusts the sleeve length on the night shirt created by Roxanna Bayliss.

After preparing breakfast, the eighth grade girls Lynn Wallace, Wanda Huggler and Barbara McGown are rewarded with samples of their culinary art.

Eyes will twinkle when Linda Black twirls on the dance floor in her green velvet and brocade formal.

Cookies and candies were delicious treats made and served by members of the eighth and ninth grade home economics classes at the annual Faculty Tea.

"Sew Neat, Sew Good, Sew 'N Fashion," was the theme of the style show presented as a climax to the fall fashions made by the girls in the advanced sewing classes.

Freshmen Mix Fun with Physical Fitness

The "fairer sex" joins in the pleasure that comes with recreation. Physical Education also stresses good sportsmanship.

The Physical Education Department offers a stimulating diversion from classroom studies. Our experienced instructors make this course a rigorous one to strengthen the bodies of the teenagers of today, the adults of tomorrow.

Industrial & Fine Arts Teach Dexterity

In Advanced Art class Jack Cable and Jackie Hawley skillfully created the masks from sketches they had drawn.

Steve Randall demonstrates his welding skill in Mr. Morris' Shop 10 class.

To familiarize Advanced Drawing students with the drafting and production processes, a visit to the Link-Belt Plant was added to enrich the Shop curriculum by Mr. David Jones.

Art students studied the fundamentals of fine arts and also concentrated their abilities in the development of specific skills such as string and wire sculpturing, metal enameling, mask and candle making, and many class projects. The keen competition provided by art contests was of great assistance in the development of imagination and originality.

Students were eager to discuss techniques learned in Eighth Grade Shop class.

Bongos Set Mood for Senior Concert

The Glee Club performed at several concerts with hopes of becoming the future Robed Choir.

The Senior Concert was the climactic point of the year for senior band members. Grass huts, leopard skins, and bongos set the mood for an authentic "African Safari."

BAND COUNCIL--C. Pitts, D. Cantrell, S. Kropp, G. Baldwin, C. Clayton, R. Hein.

ACTIVITIES

From the excitement and thrills of Homecoming to the dignity and fulfillment of graduation, DHA activities played a big role in the life of each student. The academic portion of school life was important, but the activities created well-rounded students. Joining the long line of kings, queens, and honor students was the first Senior Prom. With the combination of old traditions and innovations of the present, DHS kept...

ON THE UPBEAT

Receptions Highlight

Skipp Kropp welcomed freshmen; Dave Clark thanked seniors.

Freshman Alice Cox was presented by Randy Colglazier, senior.

Senior Linnea Rammel and freshman Glenn Hadley observed the theme "Days of Wine and Roses."

Senior Kent Hadley introduced Glenn Hadley, his freshman brother.

Two hundred and thirty freshmen and seniors mingled nervously in the cafeteria anxiously awaiting the zero hour.

Social Season

All seniors listened intently as junior president Gary Rogers bid them farewell.

Junior Class officers Gene Wiggam and Brad Clark showed expressions of surprise as they listened to their dates, Linda Rutledge and Judy Honaker.

In the modernistic atmosphere of the I.S.T.A. Ballroom, the theme "Twilight Time" was the mood reflected by seniors, as they ended a busy high school career. But new spark was added in October as the Frosh Reception marked the beginning of 120 new careers in DHS activities.

Everyone enjoyed the jokes of Toastmaster Jim Lynch.

As the reception came to a climax, seniors and their dates relaxed and enjoyed a dance.

Homecoming Spirit

The senior class float with the theme "Shut 'Em Down" roared to a screeching halt too soon, losing first place by a fraction of a second.

Enhanced by Victory

Norman Blum, football captain, crowned Jinny Gill the 1964 Homecoming Queen.

"Search for a Victory" was the theme arrayed by the sophomores to boost the Mighty Warriors onward.

The crowd cheered wildly knowing the Warriors had struck up another victory.

Winter's Magic Enchants Snow-Ball

Snowballs and snowmen added enchantment to the Christmas Season for all who possessed its spirit. The real meaning of Christmas was brought to life by contributions of gifts for needy children. With the true spirit of Christmas present, our thoughts of the past year, 1964, were much more rewarding.

Susie Ellis was crowned "Queen of Snow" by Bob Conley, President of the Hi-Y Club.

Rusty Davis, DHS Alumnus was the "Disc Jockey" for the ball.

'Dearheart's' King Reigned at Dance

The highlight of the annual "Dearheart's Dance" was the crowning of the King. The FHA girls selected Tom Kraft from four final candidates for the "King Of All Young Hearts." Different hues of red and pink streamers accented the theme "Dearhearts". Hearts and cupids were sprinkled about the Gridroom.

FHA President, Linda Sturm crowned Tom Kraft "King of All Young Hearts." The other candidates were: Skip Barnett, Gary Rogers and David Himself.

The Royal Couple began the traditional dance after the crowning of the king.

Mike Barber and Linda Higgins seemed to enjoy the dreamy music and candlelight.

Senior Prom Climaxed Social Calendar

Near a babbling fountain designed to carry out the theme "Three Coins In a Fountain", the Maids of the Court and their Knights were introduced. Reigning majestically over the first Senior Prom were Queen Linda Rutledge and King Gene Wiggam. With dim lights and soft music, the magic of the night began to unfold. The dance with its unforgettable memories came serenely to a close.

Linda Rutledge and Gene Wiggam.

Senior Girls Win Awards

Teresa Cowles received the 1964-65 Betty Crocker Home-maker Award. Having been named "Homemaker of To-morrow" at Danville, Teresa was entered in competition for state and national honors.

Ann Underhill was named the Hendrick's County winner of the annual Good Citizen contest sponsored by the Wa-Pa-Ke-Way Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Hoosier Girls' and Boys' State

ORGANIZATIONS

Meetings during activity period, elections of club officers, planning projects--all these were necessities of the teamwork displayed in DHA organizations. We were bound in friendships with our teachers and our classmates by the pride received from accomplishment. The good experience gained by extracurricular activities will help to put our generation . . .

Problems and Decisions Faced Council

The officers of Student Council were: Sitting: T. Kraft, Vice-President; A. Underhill, Secretary; S. Barnett, Parliamentarian. Standing: E. Smith, Treasurer; T. Crews, President.

The Student Council set the social pace for the school year. Their ideas prepared the way for solving problems and making decisions. Sponsoring the annual Homecoming and working frantically to raise funds for the continuation of the Foreign Student Program kept them busy. The year was brought to a close as the Council presented the first Senior Prom.

A day of honor for all teachers, corsages and boutonnieres were presented to them by members of the Student Council.

FIRST ROW: Mr. O'Brien, Advisor, S. Kropp, A. Underhill, C. Fellows, E. Smith, D. Hughes, T. Kraft, S. Barnett, T. Crews. SECOND ROW: J. Lawson, D. Whicker, D. Ledgerwood, S. Wills, B. McCord, S. "Will you live up to the standards set by the National Honor Society?" Ken Robinson asks the newly inducted members.

The officers of Honor Society were: N. Blum, Vice-President; K. Robinson, President; J. Hadley, Secretary; and M. Collins, Treasurer.

The National Honor Society consists of individuals who try to maintain high standards of scholarship, stimulate a desire to render service, promote worthy leadership and encourage the development of character. Society members spread happiness during the Christmas season by wrapping gifts for mental patients.

Deadline Dilemma

The Tom Tom Staff labored many hours selling advertising, writing and editing copy, and making layouts. The Staff sincerely hopes that this yearbook has succeeded in capturing many wonderful memories for you in pictures and in words.

Quill

The Editorial Staff faced endless problems of cropping pictures, writing headlines, and finding the thesaurus in the crowded staff room, as they were confronted with the dilemmas of deadlines.

According to the Constitution students of junior or senior status must have done superior work and be recommended by their advisor and approved by the Executive Board. The Chapter of Quill and Scroll has a yearbook section added. The Dinner May 12.

Confronted by Staffs

Reporters know that a deadline means frenzied periods in the hectic atmosphere behind the closed doors of the City Room.

and Scroll

'So What,' is the familiar cry of the staff as they scan finished stories. Putting the paper to bed is the prime interest of everyone involved. When stories are scarce, reporters pound their beats relentlessly and then their typewriters when a story breaks. Maybe it's a personality sketch, human interest story or, the desire of all reporters--the scoop. Whatever the break, there is the reporter dashing to the scene.

Members of Quill and Scroll must be chosen from standing that are in the upper third of their class. They work in school publications, recommended by the Executive Secretary of the Society. The Danville Chapter also sponsored the annual Publications

Lynch, G. Rogers, J. Hamilton, Eric Smith.

"Action. . .camera!" These sounds weren't heard on the stage, but the excitement of acting was the same. Thespian Troupe 2246 was established to further interest in dramatic arts. Students knew that they had to work to get the ten points necessary for membership. Activities sponsored by the Thespian Club included the production of the plays, "Arsenic and Old Lace," "The Wizard of Oz," and "Music Man."

Among the cast for "Arsenic and Old Lace" were L. Rutledge, J. Watson, S. Randolph, C. Fellows, T. Kraft, S. Kropp, B. Jordan, J. Lynch.

Serving as officers for both the Speech Club and Thespian Club were N. Jones, Treasurer; L. Rutledge, President; B. Clark, Vice President; B. Jordan, Secretary; and S. Kropp, Parliamentarian.

Prospective Starlets

A mock debate provided entertainment for the Speech Club Halloween Party. Bob Decker played Barry Goldwater, Jeff Hamilton served as mediator, and Steve Johnston played Lyndon Johnson.

Carol Piper and Lyndall Cornwell gave the story of "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" in Chinese dialect with gestures at the party.

Affiliated with the Thespian Club, the Speech Club offered students the opportunity to participate in activities with the Thespian Club. Speech Club members helped with the production of the plays and entered contests for poetry readings and extemporaneous speaking.

Speech Club membership grew as more students became interested in expressing themselves through speech.

The outstanding purpose of FHA--to promote international goodwill--is being upheld again this year by the club members. Activities this year included a paper drive, district meetings, Sweet-heart Dance, FHA Week, and the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

E. Hitchcock made a transistor breadboard. It can serve different purposes such as a detector for water or as a metronome.

Creative and original ideas promoted an active interest in Science Club. The goal of this outstanding group was to build a project to be exhibited at the science fair, which provided a competitive atmosphere. The open house, which was held in April, helped acquaint the public with a greater knowledge and awareness of these students and their projects.

N. Blum's project counts radioactive particles per minute in order to determine the half life of iodine.

The Science Club Officers were: J. Garrett, President; L. Heard, Secretary-Treasurer and Eric Smith, Vice-President.

Library Club members rendered their service during study halls to fulfill their requirement of two hours of work each month. Promoting reading interest, decorating the bulletin board, and shelving books were only a few tasks performed by student librarians. Dues and the profits from the "Book Island" enabled the Club to send two members to the I. U. Workshop.

Library club officers were: Seated, J. Clark, vice-president; L. Lee, secretary. Standing: E. Smith, Treasurer; and T. Tucker, president.

Warren Haas, junior, was elected state vice-president of High School Librarians Association during the Fall Conference at Purdue.

Students Studied Roman Culture

During initiation, Latin customs once again were alive for the club members.

The Latin Club Officers are: D. Whicker, Treasurer; L. Doub, Secretary; R. McDowell, President; D. Weaver, Vice-President.

As Latin members sit in their togas, they discuss the future of the prospective initiates.

Bob Decker, after participating in football for the required number of quarters received his letter jacket from the head football coach, Robert Pedigo.

Boys earning a letter in any sport was automatically a member in Lettermen's Club. The Club supported basketball season by parking cars in the student parking lot.

Boosted Warrior Morale

Lettermen's Club officers were: S. Barnett, M. Gilbreath, G. Rogers, D. Hoge, D. Underwood and N. Blum.

Board members planned the Booster Club's activities during home games and formed the tourney booster club.

Boy boosters added extra spirit and pep to back our Warriors.

'Music Man' Staged by DHS Talent

JAN FALLS

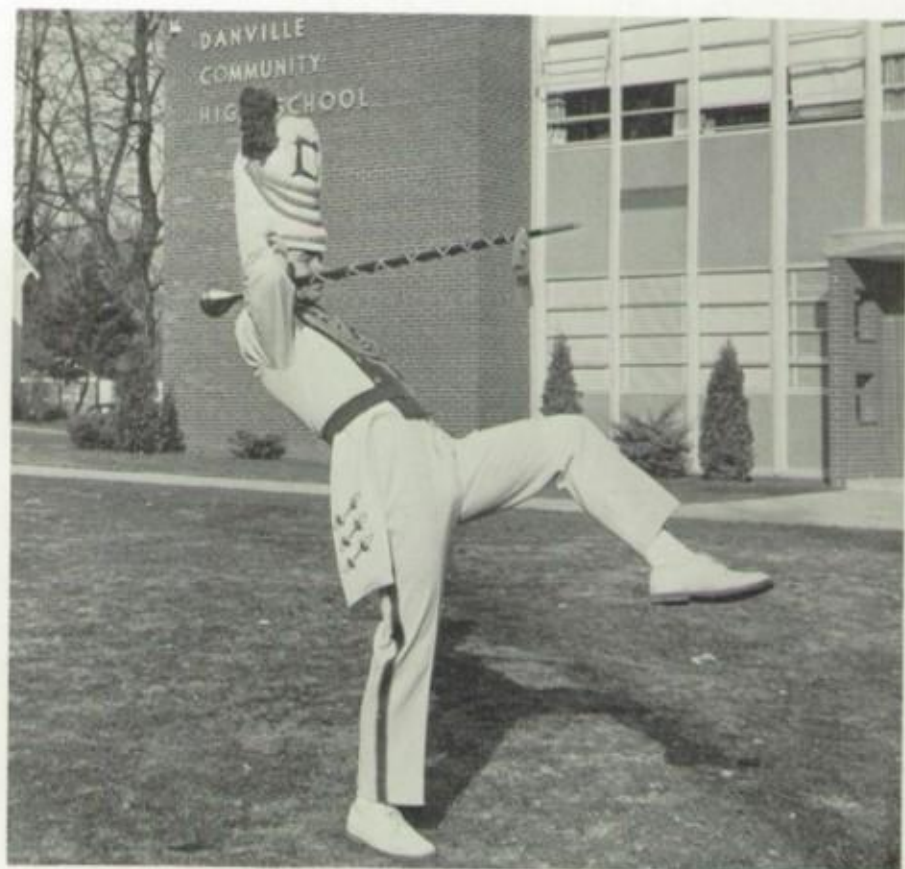

Adding another full and challenging year to its record, Danville Music Makers are already preparing for the coming year. Looking over this year's appearances we find the Dance Band entertained at the REMC Convention held in Bostic Gymnasium. Craig Pitts was selected as first drummer for the All-Star Band at Purdue University Dance Band Clinic.

After many tiresome practices, continuous workouts in the hot sun, and finally achieving their fondest goal of near perfection, the Band put on their award-winning show on Farmer's Day at the State Fair to capture the second place trophy.

Jan Falls spent many hours practicing and perfecting her dance routine for the delightful musical "Music Man" which was staged by the music and speech departments. Leslie Heard and Eric Smith led the cast with their portrayals of Marion the Librarian and Professor Harold Hill.

Dave Wallace was always on his toes as he made his quick changes from Dance Band to the Danville Marching Warriors.

Craig Pitts led the flashy Danville Marching Warriors in half-time entertainment during the football season.

Presenting the annual religious programs at Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter, the Robe Choir looked resplendent in their scarlet robes and white stoles.

Dance Band Members were: At bass, C. Pitts, M. Stamper, C. Pitts, T. Eggers, S. Pritchett, S. Cox, V. Gill, D. Geiling, J. Gossett, D. Cantrell, G. Baldwin, W. Ballentine, D. Weaver. Standing: D. Wallace, K. Deich, M. Stamper, R. McDowell, S. Kropp.

Leading the band in drill formations and performances, we saw the high-stepping Drum Majorettes Cherrie Clayton, Sharon Ferguson, Marjorie Harbin, and Carol McCreary.

Cheerleaders

"Score, team, score!" was a familiar cry of reserve cheerleaders Sharon Jarrett, Michele Hazelwood, and Carla Etienne.

PERSONALITIES

"As the twig is bent, the tree shall grow," so it was with the students of DHS. We have learned to choose our friends wisely, knowing that these friendships will remain forever. With the help and influence of faculty and fellow students we have attained high standards and ideals. By upholding these virtues, our friends did their part to keep us

ON THE UPBEAT.

School Board and Administrators

SCHOOL BOARD--STANDING: Howard Conley and Gilbert Chapman. SITTING: William McPeck, Vincin Helton and Randall Joseph studied problems for the future building project.

Devoting much time to the betterment of the Corporation, Merril D. Vaughan faced the difficult decisions as our Superintendent.

Our administration was faced with the numerous problems concerning the recent consolidation. The administrators urged the construction of an additional school. With their willingness and effort the building was completed for this school year.

Ruth Jones, who was Corresponding Secretary to the School Board and secretary of the Danville Community School Corporation, was constantly kept busy with the job, but met everyone with a concerning attitude and open mind.

June Edwards served in the newly located Superintendent's Office as secretary to the Danville Community School Corporation.

Set School Policies

As the sponsor of the senior class, Mr. Max Gibbs, vice principal, taught health and biology. As athletic director, he helped to promote a better image in public relations.

With steady nerves and strong initiative, Mr. Henry Cox tackled the responsibilities of a principal, while devoting his time to all school activities and sponsoring the senior class.

Assisting the students in choosing a career, Mr. John O'Brien, as guidance counselor, had a never-ending job. In addition to his counseling, he taught junior English and advised Student Council.

Performing the usual tasks of a secretary, Katy Burrows still had time to fulfill the numerous requests of students and faculty.

The cooks, Helen Mitchell, Margaret Lynch, Hazel Slater, Chloe Morgan, and Fred Edick, rendered their service by preparing and serving food to students and faculty.

Seniors Look to the Seniors are symbols. They represent the hopes of the "green" freshmen, the aspirations of the sophomores and the awaited seniority for the juniors. There are struggles to be sure, but generally senior life is associated with the best seats at ballgames, prominent offices in extra-curricular activities, and special awards and honors.

Freshmen Explored High School Life

Last September one hundred and eighteen carefree Freshmen wandered into the crowded halls torn between trying to find their next class and meeting all those strange faces. They eagerly looked forward to a rich high school career as upper-classmen. But they will always treasure the memories of their first year.

After being formally introduced, the freshmen relaxed and enjoyed refreshments.

A diploma is a passport that introduces a new way of life. But far or near, our travels can never erase the interchangeable imprint between us and our school.

Many events were sadly greeted for the final time and became a part of the memorable past--the anxieties of making ready for a formal dance, the undying school spirit, the sight of overwhelming disbelief on faces of those chosen kings and queens, the mad rush to complete a Homecoming float, and the tense excitement at tourney time. All these and many more were experienced for the last time.

A diploma--this simple, cherished folder--slowly closed the doors on our high school years, but it opens the door to opportunity.

Jim,
 A real good friend who is a real rat to be around, you guys sure have had your share of fun. (especially at Bruce's New Year's Eve Party)
 I sure hope whatever you choose to do after graduation makes you happy. Do me a favor - Don't drink too much Beer it's not good for your health.
